ILMKUBATOR CLASS 2023

In nine months to your own start-up >> the Ilmkubator Class at the TU Ilmenau Start-up Service helps you getting ready!

Information about application and participation

Alone or in a team? Rough idea or already concrete ideas?

It doesn't matter – the main thing is that you have a clever and special idea!

At least one team member should study or work at the TU Ilmenau and the team should not have founded a company with the idea yet. With the participation in the class the team commits itself to take part in all workshops and the individual meetings.

Applications are made via a brief introduction, which should include the following:

1. Idea: What is the idea? What concrete problem is the idea based on? What makes the idea special and innovative?

2. Target group and market: Who is the product or service aimed at? What is the concrete added value for this group? In which industry do you operate?

3. Team introduction: Who are you? What makes you special as a team? What is each of you an expert in? What resources do you possibly already bring to the start-up project?

4. Expectations of the class: What do the team want from the programme and the coaches? Where do you need special support? What are you most looking forward to?

5. Vision: What do you want to achieve after the Ilmkubator Class? Where will you be with your project in two years from today?

Whether classic presentation, text document or video - send us your documents plus profile by e-mail to ilmkubator@tu-ilmenau.de! Deadline is February 28, 11:59 p.m..

Questions about the Ilmkubator Class or the application? Our coaches are available via e-mail to ilmkubator@tu-ilmenau.de at any time.

We also welcome applications from interdisciplinary and international teams (basic German language skills are required). There is no legal claim to participation in the Ilmkubator Class.

We look forward to receiving your submissions and wish you every success with your application!
