Random perfect matchings in regular graphs

Felix Joos (Universität Heidelberg)

The number of derangements (fixpoint-free permutations) is a topic studied for centuries. Observe that this number is equal to the number of perfect matchings in a complete balanced bipartite graph minus a perfect matching. I present several extensions of this result thereby also answering two questions of Sprio and Surya.